I understand that you feel like you need to document your mothers condition. However, I go to see her regularly and I have never seen her like this. I also have never sat at her bedside for hours waiting for it to happen either. The fact that you are sharing pictures of my client who lacks decisional capacity with all of these people I do not know nor does she is I'm sure not what she would want. I understand you dislike Paramount. I also understand that the very first day we met I gave you three options. Paramount, you set aside enough money for an AFH to be paid for privately, or you show you have the funds to secure her actual in home care providers not hired off craigslist. Those were the options, I even checked with you repeatedly before discharge to find out if you have figured something else out.

I also requested to get information and records from speech therapy at Paramount to find out when and who told you that you could give her anything by mouth. There is no such record. There is no swallow study showing that she is safe to have food or liquid by mouth. She is aspirating on fluids, that is what is causing her to be sick. We didn't know if it was from the liquid feeds she has and then you had been laying the bed flat, or if she was aspirating on her own saliva, but to find that you are giving her liquid. Thin liquids that would go straight to her lungs and completely explains the aspirations. I have to have a meeting with the staff of Paramount for them to allow you back there.

I know you want your mother home. I get it, I WANT to help you. HOWEVER, you seem to make it impossible for me to do that when I get calls that you are doing the exact things that are causing your mothers health to fail. So PLEASE if you want her out of Paramount we need to do this my way. With proper caregivers and home nurses, reinstating her insurance, and not sabotaging Paramount causing more chaos and discomfort for your mother. I know she loves you. You are her son. I have sons. I KNOW she loves you but you are literally making it IMPOSSIBLE for me to do my job and help you bring her home.
